Summary:

What happens when you repeatedly say the mantra wrong during Hot Mindfulness Yoga Class? For CALLIE, a shy and laid-back Valley girl from Torrence, California, it means becoming possessed by the spirit of KALI, Hindu God of Destruction, and knocking out her best friend, SHRUTI, along with the entire class with a blast of Karmic Energy. Once possessed, Callie's essence becomes trapped inside as Kali's spirit takes hold at night, turning her into a literal man-killer, sucking out the souls of men to increase her strength and power.

When Shruti abruptly interrupts her best friend sucking face in the back alley of a club, she soon realizes it's Kali taking another life, floating above the ground, demanding she follow Kali or die. Faced with imminent death, Shruti's gay friend RICH comes out to check on her, only to find a possessed Callie hovering two feet off the ground, a fireball raised above her head, which ends up decapitating his hot club date and knocking everyone out from the energy blast, as she floats away down the alley.

When Shruti and Rich come to, they confront her UNCLE SAI about what happened, who instantly panics and heads back to his Sutra Yoga studio to discover the ancient Amulet of Kali has been broken, one of the mystic spirits of Kali has escaped, and they must hurry to the Shaiva Sadhu elders for counsel, revealing their family is part of a long heritage of mystics to guard the amulets of Kali to prevent the return of the age of Kali Yuga from reigning for thousands of years. With guidance from the Shaiva elders, they discover they must enlist a mystic stoner PARIJAT to help find the remaining two amulets before Kali does and recapture her spirit or all of humankind will die.

Meanwhile, Kali builds an army of followers, transforming their souls to do her bidding, and they seek out the remaining amulets. With each passing day, and each new soul consumed, Kali's power grows, while Callie, trapped inside her soul of darkness, struggles for her freedom. Shruti and her team must fight off Kali's power to gain control of the amulets but to win an epic battle for all life on the streets of Las Vegas and Circus Circus Casino, both Shruti and Callie must connect with their inner truth to help each other survive and save mankind.
